

I'm Matt, Design Engineer from the UK.
But i live Bulgaria.

I've been designing & developing websites for more than 20 years.
But i've done it professionally since 2008

I play football & support my home team LFC.
Additionally i like Snowboarding, hiking and camping.

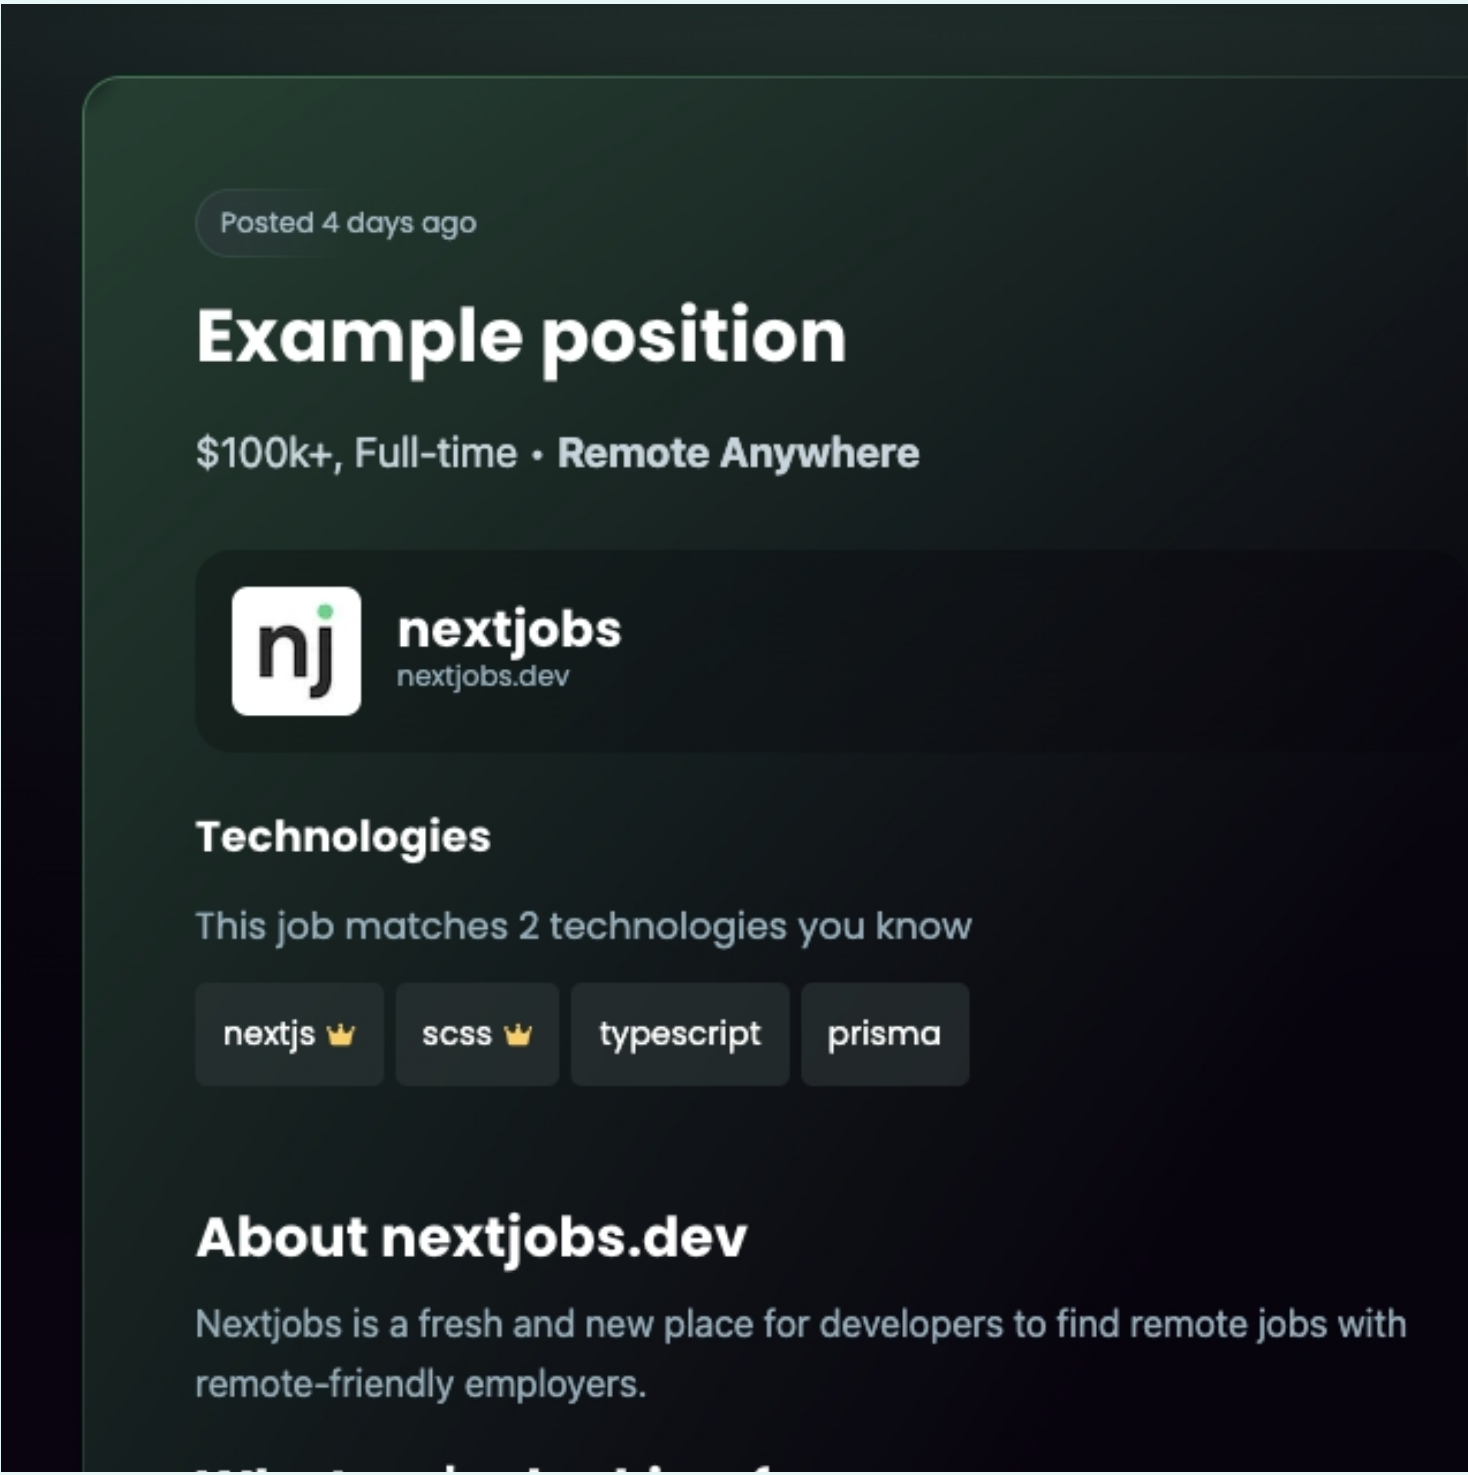

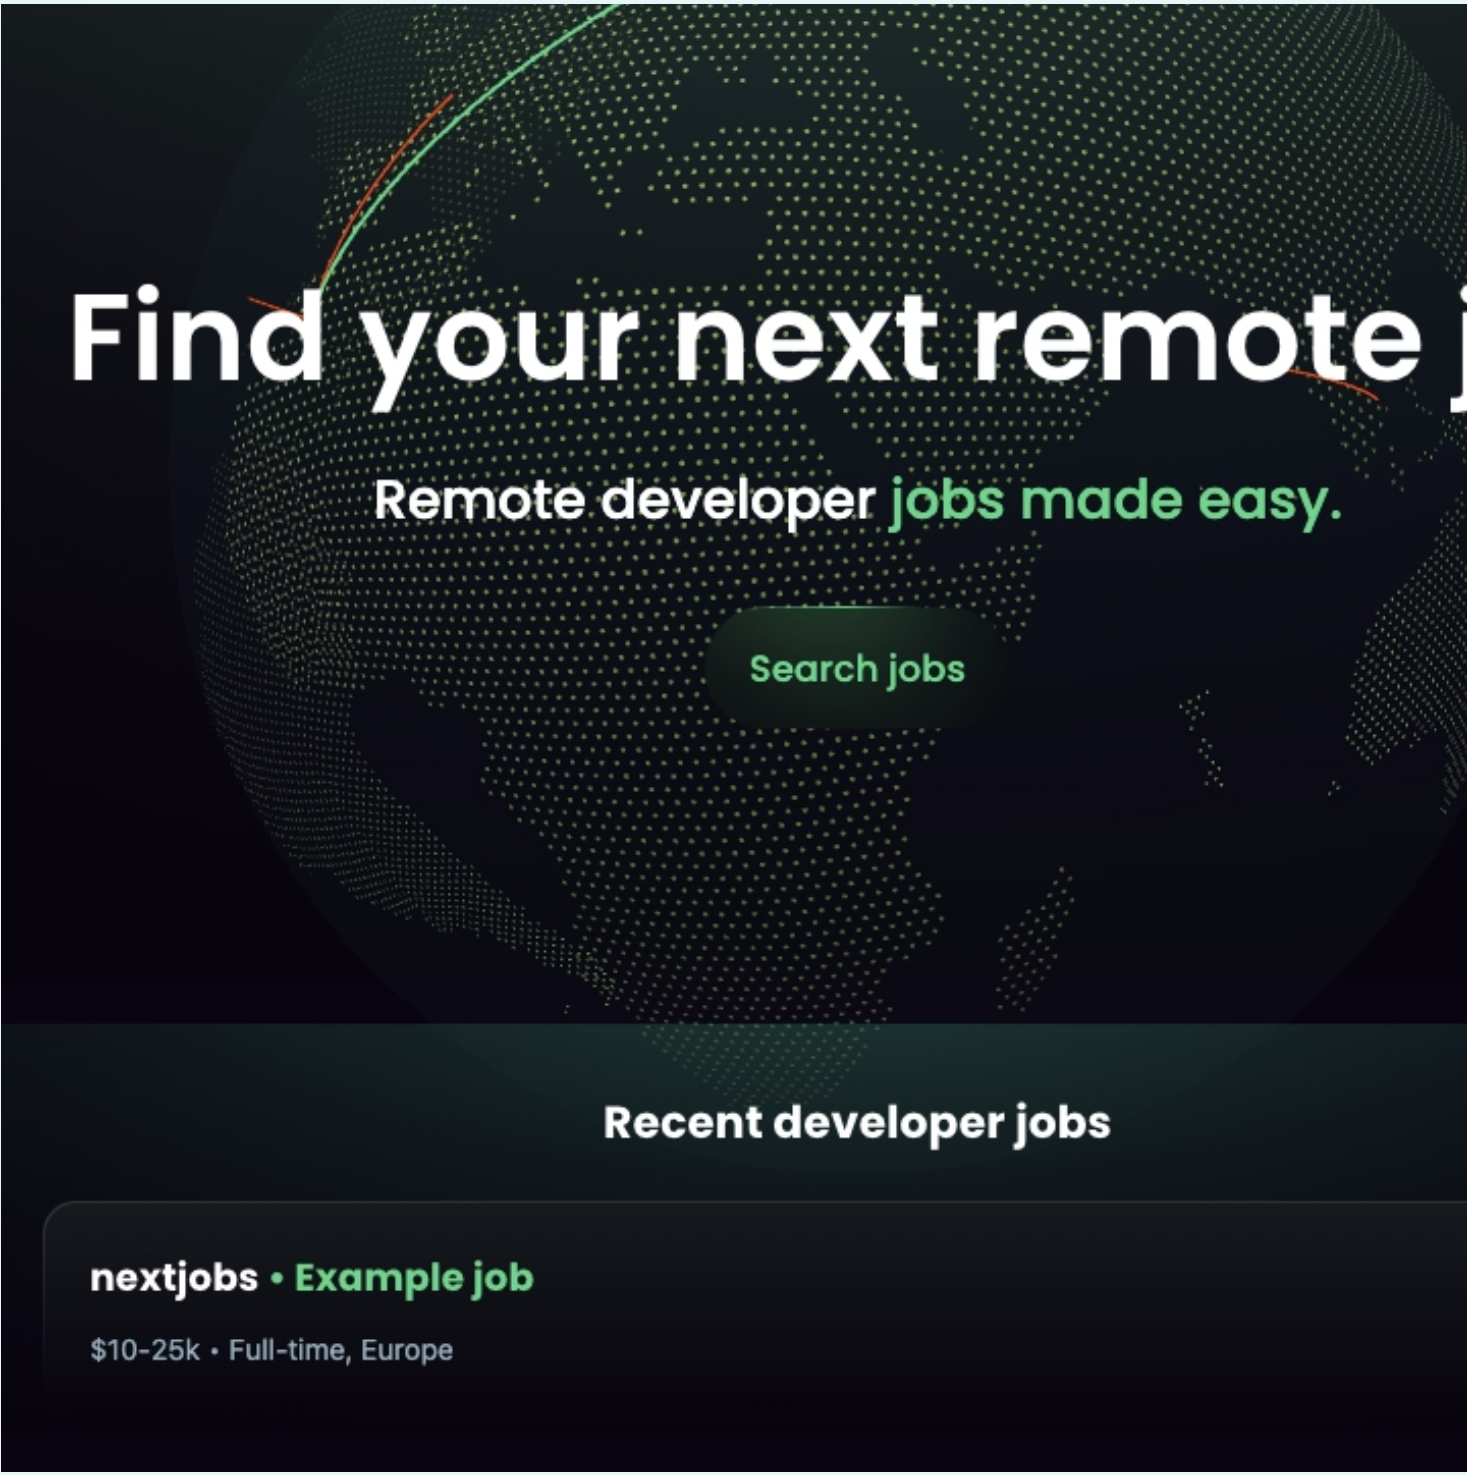

My current flavour.
And some other stuff i like.

next.js	supabase	figma
typescript	stripe	framer
scss	lemonsqueezy	xd
prisma	radix	sketch
mongodb	shadcn	photoshop
	formik	illustrator
	storybook	after effects

Recently i built something
Because i was made redundant

It's called nextjobs.dev – I made it during September '03 as a side project after losing my previous job. I wanted to make a full-stack web application that could both showcase my design and development ability while learning some more. It uses my current flavour mentioned above and utilises a bunch of Next 13's awesome new features like edge functions together with Prisma's new Accelerate product.

While i'm searching for a job i'd be happy to give employers a tour of the repo!

I've worked with some amazing brands.
And with amazing people
